Read on your PC, Mac, smart phone, tablet or Kindle device.Here Is A Preview Of What You'll Learn...Africa has always been a place of mystery and legend it has stirred the imagination of many explorers and adventurers is rumored to house the lost mines of King Solomon, the Ark of the covenant, one of the missing Crystal skulls, and many other wondrous treasures for generations it was known as the "dark continent" simply because so little of it had been explored and mapped. There were rumors of wild beasts and vegetation that could be found nowhere else on earth and it was said that its people possessed magic powers and could walk between the world of the living and the spirit world at will it was also said that African warriors were some of the most ferocious fighters humanity ever produced. It was sad that they had no fear of death could feel no pain and that they could out run a lion.Africa is a vast continent, housing many countries; the most sought-after and contested of these however, is South Africa it has been fought over by many nations, most notably, the Belgians and the British both of these powerful countries have laid claim to South Africa, and her riches. At one time or another, the territory was desired. Thanks to the gold and diamond mines that were scattered throughout the region (which are still producing today). The capital of South Africa is Cape Town, Cape Town is a city with a rich history and vibrant culture it is a melting pot of British Dutch and Belgian, as well as the numerous African ethnicities and native tribes. There are many different dialects and languages spoken. The most famous of which is probably Afrikaans (a homegrown language, which is a mixture of Dutch and several African dialects this language was originally developed as a way for Dutch colonial traders to communicate with their African counterparts, and has been spoken by successive generations of white South Africans).When you visit Cape Town you will see one of the oldest and most active ports in the world is an epicenter of trade for the entire continent. It handles everything from fresh fruit to the latest generation iPad. You will hear numerous languages and laughter and gaze upon the scene that would have been exactly the same (minus the iPads of course). Since Cape Town was founded.Cape Town is full of magnificent restaurants, elegant boutiques and extremely friendly people who welcome visitors with open arms and are more than happy to share their stories and culture with anyone that asks.There are also plenty of reputable guide companies in Cape Town that specialize in showing tourists. The wonders of Cape Town and the history of the city itself, as well as the wild animals and botanical life, everyone wants to see a rhinoceros or a giraffe or a lion in the wild. At least once in their lifetime and you will definitely have that opportunity in Cape Town.Download Your Copy TodayTo order

Customer Reviews

Outrageous rip-off, maybe 8 pages long if printed. should not sell books this short with so little information, no maps, no addresses. It is unconscionable. A 4th grader could research the Cape Town area on the internet and come up with a far better report. If there were a way to get this book removed from I would do it. It's not even worth looking at if it were FREE. Day 1: stay at double tree hotel. cape flats music and food - but not one recommendation of a place to hear music or get food!

V&A waterfront to Camps Bay. Cape Town stadium - I went all the way to South Africa to see a stadium? In the winter the waves are huge. Well I'm there in the summer, who cares? Sea Point: affluent suburb. Green Point is trendy. Clifton. Lots of shopping! I came for the wildflowers, whales, and birds. Oh good: Cape Town Company Gardens, a tiny bit of nature. End up at the Africa Cafe, where celebrity Denzel Washington has eaten! Day 2. Blaauwberg coast views in Bloubaai and dine in an original fisherman's cottage (does this place have a name or address?). Windsurfing can be seen on Big Bay. Table Mountain National Park, take the cable to it. Visited by King George VI, Oprah Winfrey, Sting, Stefi Graf, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Margaret Thatcher and too many other celebrities to list -- are you kidding! Who cares about celebrities! Yeccccch! And not one special hiking trail mentioned. Next Helderberg "are" -- should be "area", but it is hard work to proof-read 8 pages. Eat at Salt restaurant & bar. Then Northern suburbs Tygerberg Nature Reserve. Durbanville. Day 3: Southern Peninsula. Go to Simon's Town and see museums (what are they and where are they?). Drive through Chapman's Peak, ou kaapse weg. Then Massimo's restaurant in Hout Bay where you can hang out with "20-something women out for a pizza night, friendly jocks" etc. Could this be the worst book in all of 's millions of books? It is definitely possible!

Cape Town, South Africa is one of the most magnificent cities on the planet and should be on everyone's bucket list. It is one of the most culturally diverse cities in Africa. It has been colonized by everybody from the British to the Belgians and the French and even Spain. This small little travel guide (only eight pages long) page Miss Passport is the perfect three-day itinerary for a visit to Cape Town. It lists all the important information from all the best sites to the contact information for the best hotel. The best restaurants, and anything else, a traveler might need to know including fun historical facts and trivia questions to guide seems very flexible as to allow you to add or subtract things from the itinerary as the mood strikes. It is written in simple plain English, which is good for a first-time traveler or someone that is new to Cape Town or international travel. I'm sure this will paperback travel guide will prove to be invaluable. It already feels like having a travel agent or tour guide whose sole purpose in life is to make sure that my vacation is a memory making factory. I will definitely be using this series of travel guides for all my upcoming adventures.

In Miss Passport City Guides Presents Mini 3 Day Unforgettable Vacation Itinerary to Cape Town South Africa, Ms Sharon Bell takes her readers to South Africa's Cape Town. In this publication, Ms Bell advises readers how to spend a three-day holiday in Cape Town. She advises readers about suitable accommodation and places to visit while they are in Cape Town. These places include Cape Flats, the Atlantic Seaboard, Green Point and Table Mountain. Within this publication, Ms Bell presents no photographs or illustrations of sites and scenes in Cape Town. However, this book is interesting.

Cape Town is a fascinating area with a lot going on. Right from the start this book takes you on a trip through the heart and soul of Cape Town, Cape Flats. After that musical interlude in your trip, you'll find yourself traveling through Cape Town seeing all the cultural influences that have shaped the way of life here. The book is written in a conversational tone, looking from a wide angle at all the things that can be done in three days' time. This truly seems to be setting you up for a one of a kind, unforgettable vacation!

Cape Town is a fascinating place, and with this guide, you'll learn all of the essentials in three days. With precise grammar and great detail in only a few pages, it helps any vacation goer make their stay more manageable.

Not a good sole resource but worth having a look into if you are just trying to get a sense of a couple quick things to do

A very basic overview of Cape Town. Gives a variety of choices but not big on details. Could have included a map.

Cape Town Africa is a place that hasn't been explored much but it is one of the most beautiful places in the world and definitely one of the places one must visit while touring in South Africa. Miss Passport guide has it all planned for you. If you are short on time but want to check out every place in Cape Town then Miss Passport's three day itinerary will help you out immensely. Starting with the history of the city, this book will guide you to the best places in the city, the best food and the best hotels. It is a book you should keep with you when you are visiting Cape Town as it'll help you visit all the places you wish for in only three days! Miss Passport guides plan the best vacations.
