Paws up if you love everything about dogs, from their irrepressible cheeriness to their slobbery tongues. Baines starts with the basics ("What is a dog?") and moves on to discuss small and large breeds, answer doggie-related questions ("Why do dogs roll in smelly stuff? (and imagine your pet's daily schedule "1:10 P.M. Napped. Dreamed I ran and barked). This also presents a chart for decoding canine moods and looks at the dog family, which includes coyotes, dingoes, and jackals, among others. Then there are fun sidebars like the one on toilet training Fido (accompanied by a hilarious dog-on-pot shot) and a quiz that reveals your perfect pooch mate. Finally, there's information on the importance of rescuing and how to get involved if mom and dad won't let you bring a friend home. It's a random hodgepodge of all things dog grouped under four main categories. Casual browsers will do best with this and may come away with greater insight into besties everywhere. Grades 3-6. --Ann Kelley

This book was a huge hit with my dog obsessed 8 year old. She's always trying to learn everything she can about different dog breeds, and this book has more than enough facts, pictures and fun little tidbits of information to keep her busy for a good long time. It's not the kind of book that you need to sit down and read cover to cover either. You can pretty much open it up to whatever page you want and there will be something cool for a kiddo to read. I'm really glad I got her this book, and more importantly she's totally into it and that's what matters most. If you know a kid who loves dogs, this book will be an excellent choice!

My niece is in first grade, though reads at a 3rd grade level. She's very bright for her age, and often too bright for her teachers. She loves fact books! Right now, she specifically loves fact books about dogs. So I got her this for Christmas. I received the book first, and it is beautiful. The pages are thick and shiny, and the pictures are high resolution and gorgeous. She read the book in one day!! recommend it to others who have studious children in their lives!

My sister is mentally handicap and I buy stuff like this for her all the time. She just loves them!

This National Geographic Kids Everything Dogs is a beautiful book. The photography is signature National Geographic...beautiful! This is going to my 4.5 year old granddaughter. She LOVES the dog upstairs...maybe she would trade her sister for her four-pawed friend!!The book has facts which are interesting, but is a nice blend of cute dogs and facts...just right for younger children...or budding vets!

Great reference book, my 10 year old read it in a day. But they did state they learned a lot about dogs they never knew before. Good read.

It's the traditional NatGeo quality in a book form. I'm assuming you have to like it, unless you hate dogs. Do you? If you do, you must be a cat. If you're a cat, take a nap to prove that you can read this.

Grandkids enjoyed the book as they have two dogs. It was a hit!

great product - will do business again
