I love this song but have been singing it with no props, except a giant spider puppet, for years. Just sang it with the book for my PreK class and they loved it. The next day they said it was too scary, but wanted to hear it again! Such fun!

I bought this to use with the corresponding Raffi song, but found the preschoolers I teach to attend better when I let each of them act out the song with me, each using a little toy spider. However, the book is nicely illustrated and certainly would work well in some classroom situations, while driving in the car with a little one, or just for individual use.

Love this book. Got a nice copy of it with a superior binding. Arrived in a timely way

This book along with the Raffi music was a favorite in my special education preschool class. I introduced it around Halloween and we would have read it together every day after that if we had the time. By the end of the school year one of my young leaders could pick up this book and read it to a circle of his peers without the music. He had everyone's attention!

The kids LOVE all the Raffi sing-a-long books. This is a favorite.

My daughter loves "song books" and this one is super fun and silly. It starts out with a spider on the floor which then goes onto different parts of the person and back to the floor and Everett one is glad about having a spider on the floor instead of on them.

Great book to work with rhythm and rhyme. You can read it or sing it, and young children will love it and ask for it again and again.

Our grandson has been listening to Raffi since birth. He can't get enough.
