The Jubilee Haggadah: Proclaim Liberty Throughout The Land For All Its Inhabitants

Synopsis

The fiftieth year is the year of liberty. In the jubilee year, we are commanded to return expropriated lands to their owners and to liberate slaves. As written in Leviticus, "Sanctify the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout the land for all its inhabitants. This is the fiftieth year of the State of Israel's rule over the Palestinian people. The time has come for liberty and peace. The Jubilee Haggadah conjoins the commandment to proclaim liberty throughout the land with the celebration of Passover, the festival of liberty. Authors and thinkers from throughout the Jewish world have joined together in commentary, song, and moral outcry and proposed contemporary interpretations to sections of the Haggadah. Because liberty is not only for us, but for all human beings. From Haviva Pedaya to Leon Wieseltier, from Michael Melchior to Carol Gilligan, from Amos Oz to Sarah Silverman, in this fiftieth year, we are proclaiming liberty throughout this land for all its inhabitants.

"Save Israel, Stop the Occupation" (SISO) is a new partnership of Israelis and Diaspora Jews concerned about Israel's future as a Jewish, democratic state. 2017 marks fifty years that Israel has maintained military rule over the Palestinians. This Jubilee year is a warning sign and also an opportunity. SISO is building a global, collective voice to Save Israel, Stop the Occupation. Inside Israel, SISO initiated the 50-Out network of 30 peace, co-existence and human rights organizations. Globally, SISO is building a network of Jewish communities and organizations who will organize a series of events in Europe, South Africa, Australia, Latin America and North America in coordination with Israeli initiatives. Together these efforts will ensure that the 50th anniversary of the occupation galvanizes a constituency to take action and make change. For more information: www.siso.org.il or info@siso.org.il.

Interesting take, but much less political than I expected.

This is a disgrace. It ignores the entire history of how the Palestinian Arabs came under Israeli occupation and why they remain so -- They attacked unarmed, peaceful Jews in Hebron in 1929 and continuously sporadically throughout the 1930's and '40's. Their religious leader met with Adolf Hitler to plan the mass murder of all the Jews in British Palestine. When the UN divided the land to give parts to Jordan, Egypt, and the new state of Israel, the armies of a half-dozen Arab armies invaded, with the stated goal of murdering the Jews. Ditto in 1967. Ditto in 1973. The Palestinian Arabs cheered wildly in support of Saddam Hussein's chemical warhead rockets during the 1991 Gulf War. Egypt and Jordan reached peace deals with Israel, in which captured lands were returned. Yassar Arafat was offered generous peace deals under President Clinton, and rejected them w/o negotiation. Israel returned Gaza -- soon extremist terrorists Hamas murdered all opposition to take control and fire rockets on Israel. But the haggadah ignores that and much more historical facts to put a phony guilt trip on Israelis. This is filth.

A gorgeous and timely Haggadah. The illustrations evoke both ancient Israelites and modern-day Palestinians. These combine with the text to tell the story of our liberation, both from ancient Egypt and in 1948 - and to call for liberation of the Palestinians so we all can be free.

I was very inspired by the diverse and nuances texts of this Haggadah - highly recommend for people who build their Seder who seek for inspirational Seder!
