David M. O'Brien is Leone Reaves and George W. Spicer Professor at the Woodrow Wilson Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at the University of Virginia. He received his Ph.D., M.A., and B.A. degrees in philosophy and political science from the University of California at Santa Barbara and is the author of numerous books, including Constitutional Law and Politics and Storm Center: The Supreme Court in American Politics, winner of the American Bar Association's Silver Gavel Award.

Had to buy this for a college undergrad class. This book is so fascinating and made me fall in love with law, even though the opinions are condensed. I'm trying to buy it (I rented it first) with my next pay check!

High level...glad that class is over but insightful...people need insight to court opinions.

Good condition, Just as advertised

This book is helpful in understanding court cases.

Professor O'Brien must surely be making valuable contributions with his numerous works, and this one should have been most helpful to me. But he or his publisher have opted for pretty, pale grey print -- almost impossible for middle-aged eyes to read without strain. I had ordered five of his books from and reluctantly returned them all.

Such politics. Much law.

This books was $75 less than if I would have bought it in my college bookstore.
