Jewish Heritage Quiz Book, The Jewish Mourner's Book of Why, Who's Who in the Talmud, and The Family Seder. Born in Casablanca, Morocco, Harry Araten grew up, studied, and worked in New York City. Currently residing in Israel with his wife, Rachel, and their children, he is the illustrator of The Jewish Child's First Book of Why, Classic Bible Stories for Jewish Children, and Welcome, Baby!

I brought this in order to read the well known biblical stories to my four and a half year old grandson. Unfortunately some of the stories seemed to frighten him so we stopped using it. However I think that it is a beautiful book with excellent illustrations and would be suitable for a Jewish child capable of relating to this type of content.

After going through so many childrens books that I thought did not hold the essence of the message, this one is perfect to read to my 2.5 year old.

This is a wonderfully written and illustrated book, about the beginning of time. It also shares with the children on doing right from wrong and what God thinks about it. As a homeschool teacher there are many ways this book will be used, in class as well as out of class.

I was very pleased with this book which I bought for my granddaughter who is in her first year of Hebrew school. Can't tell if it interested her at all but I liked it

My granddaughter is on Noah and she reads to her mother the story's. The illustrations are just fabulous. It is an easy read and a great book for children.

I bought this book for a grown-up friend of mine who is Jewish and missed out on learning the stories growing up. We both enjoyed the book!

Great book for children to read and understand stories which have been passed down from generation to generation. the visual illustrations are also well done and easy for the kids to relate to.

If Judaism is important in your household, this is a great starter book. Engaging, beautifully illustrated, and simple for comprehension.
